The origin of the fire has not been deletimized. R. E. Congdon of Gowanda, a student by smoke, He immediately aroused the other economy of the place, but the fire had already reached them. The interior of the fruiternity housewas desired in their, forms to stop the flamet, as they were forced to draw the engines to the top of a bill and them found little water. The boarding-house near the hurnest building was slightly affected by the flames.

After five apparatus will be demanded for College thill, as it was proved concludively that the present engines are entirely incorpable of coping with fires in the immediate vicinity of the campus. The water supply was also demonstrated to be imaleguate, as after the firemen had reached the scene, it was fully half on hour before streams of water were curred on with love.

W. H. McClain received a telegram yestet-day afternoon, collegeting the information that his son, Harry, and been Infared in the frateristy-house fire at Carnell. INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.

Street Railway Ordinance Passed in Milwaukee Holds Good.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 28.-Judge Ladwig to-day dissolved the Schwartzburg and Paine injunction cases against the city and he street railway company. It was the Schwartzburg injunction that the Aldermen violated in pussing the street railway ordinance. The result of the order will be that the Mayor and Aldermen have little to fear from the order of the court adjudging them in contempt for proceeding with the pussage of the ordinance in violation of its mandate. mandate,

The decision of the court it taken to mean that the injunction was wrongfully issued.

MRS. BAUMLEIN'S THEORY.

Husbands Should Beat Their

Wives to Prove Their Love, Dollie Baumlein, 24 years old, was taken to the City Hospital vesterday and placed in the observation ward because, it is alleged, she tried to jump from the thirdstory window of the home in which she and her husband live, at No. 31 South Seventh street.

Mrs. Baumfein has a novel idea of what constitutes counulial bliss. She believes, Mrs. Banmlein has a novel idea of what constitutes commidated biles. She believes, she says, that there is no real love between a man and his wife unless they exchange blows, or, as she expresses it, "no lighting, no loving." She says that when she tried to jump from the window yesterday she and her hashand were having a pretty lively time and that it got so warm and loving for her that she concluded to leap from the window. Her body is black and blue and she has bumps on her head which are not marked on the phrenologist's chart. These, she says, are the result of previous "love spats." "Yes." she said to The Republic reporter last night, "I believe that where there is
